Government Pressuring 130 Districts In Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will apply new pressure on some 130 hold-out southern school districts in a first positive response to the Supreme Court's desegregation mandate, government sources say.

But the administration will not demand faster action from the 100 southern districts that already have signed up to desegregate next fall, the sources said.

The government's new plans are scheduled for announcement Saturday by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The Justice Department, co-partner with HEW in school desegregation enforcement, stands silent on the White House approved policy.

Jerris Leonard, assistant attorney general for civil rights, originally talked of a joint statement with HEW propounding new steps to enforce the court's ruling.

He wanted the Justice Department to demand accelerated desegregation in the 300 Deep South school districts now under court order, informed sources said.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, according to published reports, overruled Leonard and decided against filing petitions immediately.

The 130 districts singled out for new pressure from HEW include approximately 50 currently negotiating with the government, 15 that have reneged on or failed to fulfill approved desegregation plans, and about 30 that claim exemption from HEW action because of involvement in court cases.

The decision not to challenge the 1970 desegregation plans already negotiated was based on a ruling by the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals last week, sources said.

The appeals court allowed three of the 33 Mississippi districts directly affected by the Supreme Court decision until next fall to desegregate. The others were told to eliminate dual school systems by Dec. 31.

Latest U.S. Mideast Plan Is Announced

Calls For Israel To Withdraw, Cairo Claims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest U.S. proposal for peace in the Middle East calls for Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian territory to the boundaries at the start of the Palestine war in 1948, the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported today.

U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco proposed a formula to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin on Oct. 30, but the United States has not yet made it public, Al-Ahram, which usually speaks for President Gamal Abdel Nasser, reported earlier this week that Egypt had rejected the proposal.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, the editor of Al-Ahram and a close confidant of Nasser, said in his weekly editorial today that the proposal was a 10-point plan calling for a settlement between Israel and Egypt followed by negotiations between Israel and the Arab states.

Under the plan, Heikal said, Egypt and Israel would first negotiate the return of Egyptian territory occupied in the 1967 war as well as minor areas under Egyptian rule before the 1948 war. Later Israel would negotiate the future status of the Old City of Jerusalem, the Syrian Golan Heights and the Gaza Strip with Syria and Jordan.

Heikal charged that the United States formulated the proposal in an attempt to prevent Arab agreement to hold a summit conference, but the joint Arab Defense Council decided last week to hold such a meeting next month in Morocco.

A British spokesman in London said Britain is prepared to pull its troops out of Libya and, if necessary, to negotiate a new agreement replacing the 1957 treaty of friendship and cooperation between the two countries.

Moratorium Day Activities Below Those Of Month Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Church services, vigils and rallies today marked the course of the second Vietnam Moratorium as the nationwide Vietnam protest demonstrations headed toward a weekend climax.

Amid the protests, there were expressions of support for President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

Byloads of demonstrators, many of them from colleges and universities in the Northeast and Midwest, headed for Washington to take part in the mass march scheduled for Saturday. A similar march will be held in San Francisco.

Generally the level of local activity was down compared with the first Moratorium Day on Oct. 15 as organizers concentrated on getting people to Washington where march sponsors expect a turnout of 250,000.

There were exceptions. In Gallup, N.M., a city where no major peace demonstration ever had been held before, 100 persons turned out for a peaceful candlelight vigil Thursday night.

They were opposed by 50 anti-Moratorium demonstrators who kept up a stream of shouted insults and then sang "God Bless America." The antiwar group was quiet through the insults but joined in the singing.

Two rallies protesting U.S. policy in Vietnam drew more than 5,000 persons into cold, windy weather in Chicago. The first at the downtown Civic Center Plaza was sponsored by the Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace.

In New York City, 2,000 attended a rally in Times Square where pediatrician and war critic, Dr. Benjamin Spock, criticized the President as "unable to end the war."

Again and again the crowd was urged to make the trip to Washington Saturday. Entertainers who participated included

Pete Seeger, Tony Randall, Mitch Miller, Shirley MacLaine, Peter, Paul and Mary, and Leonard Bernstein.

At an outdoor rally in St. Louis at the Gateway Arch, Corretta King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., told 3,500 persons that the conflict in Vietnam was "not worth one drop of American blood." The rally was held in freezing temperatures amid snow flurries.

Across town, the Young Americans for Freedom sponsored a march to St. Louis University that drew 200 persons.

The Young Americans for Freedom at Ohio State University circulated a "Tell It to Hanoi" petition on campus to counter calls by the University's Student Mobilization Committee for a student strike today.

15-Year-Old Youth Shot

Dale Bost Wounded In Left Arm

Pickaway County recorded its first hunting accident of the season Friday morning when Dale Bost, 15, N. Court St., was shot in the left arm.

Bost and Bert Keener, 14, 710 Northridge Road, were accompanying Roger Shelpman, 16, 361 E. Franklin St. and Jim Brown, 14, 601 N. Court St., who were hunting.

The boys were hunting west of Circleville along the river when the accident occurred.

According to the deputy's report, Brown leaned his shotgun, still cocked, against a tree. The gun fell over and went off hitting Bost in the left arm, just below the elbow.

Bost and Keener made their way to the highway where they attempted to get a ride into town.

They were unable to get anyone to stop until Dale Miller of Williamsport picked them up and took them to the sheriff's office.

Deputy Bob Hoover rushed Bost to Berger Hospital where he received treatment.

Hemp Burns Again Inside Freighter

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Smoldering hemp in the hold of the Brazilian freighter Delila burst into flame again Thursday, summoning firemen to the Port of Toledo.

The cargo originally caught fire last Friday and has been burning off and on since then.

Claim Ohio Schools Face Bleak Future

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of school superintendents predicted Thursday a bleak future for education in Ohio if something isn't done soon to provide more state financial support.

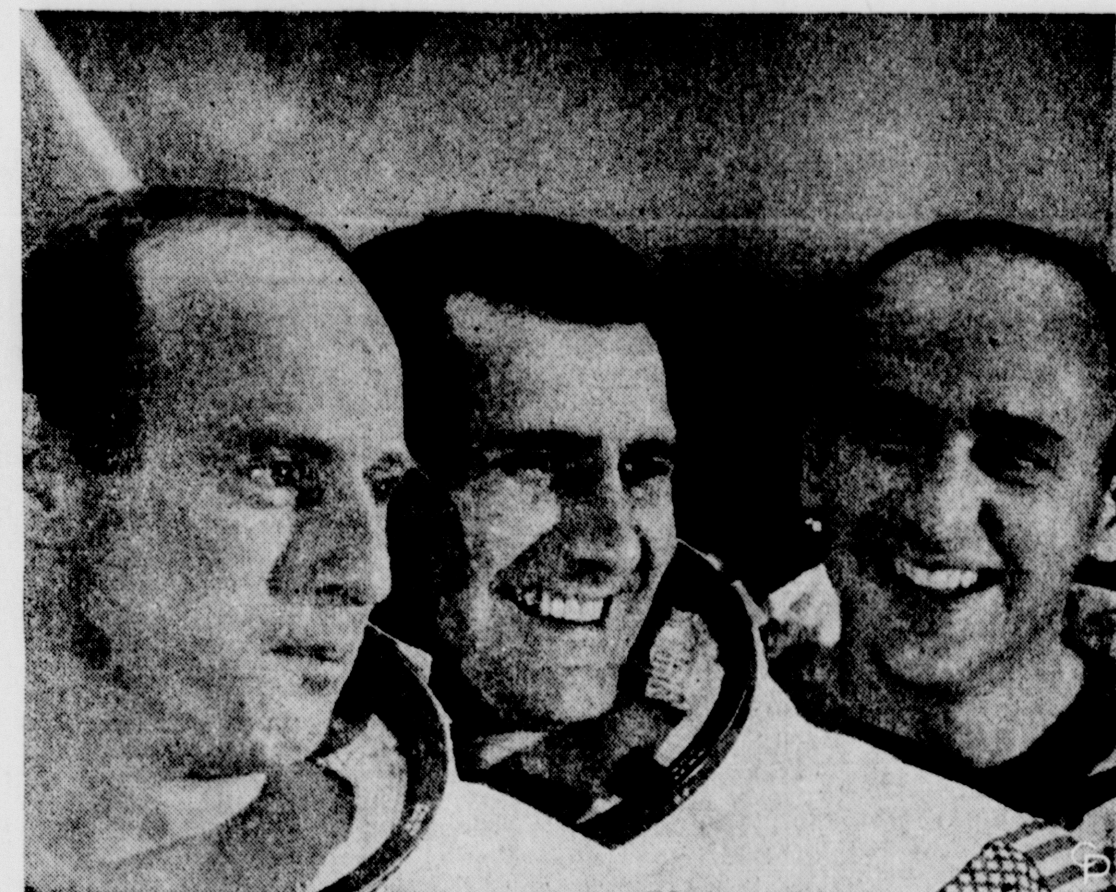

One of them, Richard Latture, of Newton Falls, called upon the legislature to "put the children of Ohio above politics."

The superintendents, representing eight school districts that will close down later this month for lack of funds, and local and state officials of the Ohio Education Association met with newsmen to discuss the state's education crisis.

Stayner Brighton, OEA executive secretary, said that if the legislature does not change the state's school support structure next year "there will be a progressive deterioration of schools in Ohio."

He said the OEA again will push for tax revision, including the adoption of a state income tax, to provide adequate support for schools.

Brighton and the superintendents agreed that, while it is unfortunate that schools must close, it is the only way to get the public to understand the financial shape they are in.

North Viets Hit Saigon Troops Hard

SAIGON (AP) — Strong North Vietnamese forces attacked Saigon government troops today near the Bu Prang and Duc Lap Special Forces camps near the Cambodian border, triggering close-hand fighting during which South Vietnamese bombers hit their own troops.

Associated Press photographer Rick Merron reported from Ban Me Thuot that 20 South Vietnamese were reported killed in the heaviest attack and 54 wounded, many of them by their own bombers. Two American advisers also were wounded.

Unofficial reports said 95 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed.

The heaviest fighting centered two miles south of the Bu Prang Special Forces camp, 110 miles northeast of Saigon, which for two weeks has been under pressure along with Duc Lap, 25 miles farther north.

"In the beginning everything was very confusing," said Spec. 5 John Edwards of Killen, Tex., crew chief on a medical evacuation helicopter which flew in five times to lift out wounded. "From what I saw the Vietnamization program kind of stopped today."

Merron said another battalion of 400 to 500 South Vietnamese troops was involved in a clash two miles south of Duc Lap, but information on that was not available yet.

Some 7,000 North Vietnamese are reported in the Bu Prang-Duc Lap border section in the southern part of the central highlands.

The allied command was forced two weeks ago to hastily abandon three U.S. artillery bases near Bu Prang that were providing supporting fire for field units. The South Vietnamese have been told the fighting has been stopped.

Voters Get 2nd Chance At Levies

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Voters in three Columbiana County school districts where school levies failed Nov. 4 will face the levies again on Dec. 9 in special elections.

East Palestine voters face a six-mill levy, Columbiana Exempted Village voters a five-mill levy, and Fairfield-Waterford voters a four-mill levy. The Board of elections set up the new elections Thursday.

Apollo 12 Crew Starts Regular Moon Exploration

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12 broke the ice. Apollo 12 tests the water.

Apollo 11 in July proved that man can land on the moon and return safely. Apollo 12 starts systematic exploration and lays the foundation for a bolder exploration to follow.

Nearly every waking minute of the Apollo 12 crew's time on and around the moon is devoted to enhancing the scientific exploration. The accuracy of the landing, the amount and quality of work done on the surface, and the scientific value of the moon samples collected, all are vital to future lunar exploration.

Apollo 12's major goals are:

- Collecting more lunar rocks for study.
- Study man's ability to work on the moon.
- Set up equipment for long-term testing.
- Attempt a pinpoint landing.
- Photograph future landing sites.

The prime objective is to gather carefully chosen moon rocks and return them to earth for analysis.

Rocks were brought to earth by Apollo 11, but this was a bonus to the prime objectives of landing and returning. The samples were gathered at random because of the press of time.

On Apollo 12, astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean will select rocks with the critical eyes of gourmet choosers. Dozens of rocks will be photographed from all sides before they are picked up, each to be carefully described and packaged.

The spacemen also will do a more thorough evaluation of man's ability to work on the moon. They'll walk farther, stay outside the landing craft longer and do more tasks. Science considers this evaluation second in importance only to the rerun of the rocks.

The third priority goal is deployment of an array of experiments designed to give data about the moon's surface, subsurface and atmosphere. These experiments will provide months of constant data that can keep scientists busy studying for years, even if man never again goes back to the moon. A small atomic generator will power transmission of the data back to earth long after Conrad and Bean have left.

Arrest Man Aboard Jet At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Michigan man was taken into custody by the FBI today after an incident at the Dayton Municipal Airport involving Delta Airlines Flight 65 from Detroit to Atlanta.

The FBI identified the man only as John Kimball, 44, of Livonia, Mich., and said they had charged him with a federal offense of carrying a concealed weapon aboard an airliner.

FBI agents said a man had gone into the pilot's compartment of Delta Flight 65 and told the pilot that someone aboard the plane was going to hijack it, but that he would stop it. The man displayed a gun. The FBI agents said.

When the plane landed at the Dayton Airport, after 6 a.m., E.S.T., the pilot left the plane and summoned the FBI and local authorities. When the agents arrived they took Kimball into custody.

He is to be arraigned later today before U.S. Commissioner Robert Snell.

The plane carried 60 passengers and a crew of five. It was permitted to continue its flight to Atlanta.

Youth Gets Life In Murder Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-year-old Billy W. Kennedy of Cleveland was sentenced to life imprisonment Thursday after a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas jury found him guilty of first-degree murder with a recommendation of mercy.

Kennedy was sentenced by Judge John T. Patton following his conviction for the July 4 shooting of 19-year-old Calvin Smith of Cleveland. The prosecution argued that the boy was slain as revenge for an argument between Kennedy and the boy's father earlier the same day.

Kennedy's stepfather, Laypols Bell, went on trial Thursday on the same charge.

Radio Contact Disrupted By Lightning Hit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Apollo 12 astronauts rode their command ship Yankee Clipper into earth orbit through a lightning storm today to start America's second moon-landing expedition despite heavy rains that for a while threatened delay.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., 39, Richard F. Gordon Jr., 40, and Alan L. Bean, 37, thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 11:22 a.m. (EST) on a Saturn 5 super-rocket that blasted into the heavens and survived a possible lightning hit that momentarily disrupted communications.

"I think we got hit by lightning," Conrad called just after mission controllers reported a serious loss of data from the floating spacecraft.

Conversation between the ground and the spacecraft indicated lightning might have affected the instrument measuring unit which contains the rocket's guidance system.

However, it did not prevent the astronauts from achieving orbit about 117 miles high, the first plateau on a trip to the moon. Their goal is a pinpoint landing in the lunar Ocean of Storms where they will spend 7½ hours walking the surface for man's first detailed study of another planet.

President and Mrs. Nixon were among thousands who braved a heavy downpour to watch the departure of the 36-story rocket.

Nixon, bareheaded in the heavy rain, watched the launch from a viewing site 3½ miles from the rocket pad. He became the first U.S. president to watch a manned space launch.

It was the worst weather in history for an American-managed lift-off.

Observers saw two lightning bolts flash shortly after launch and the astronauts reported so many alarm lights aboard that they were unable to read them all.

Agnew Rips Televised News As Biased, Censored

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, asserting that public opinion is being molded by selective or biased news telecasts, says the time may have come for the networks to be "made more responsive to the views of the nation."

In a speech to a Midwest regional Republican committee, the vice president declared Thursday night that power over television news is concentrated

"in the hands of a tiny and closed fraternity of men."

Agnew emphasized he was not suggesting any kind of government censorship. And he said the networks have made important contributions to national knowledge. He added they often have used their power constructively and creatively to "awaken the public conscience to critical problems."

But he said an unfair news presentation could raise widespread doubts about the veracity of a public official or the wisdom of a government policy and urged televisioners to "let the networks know that they want their news straight and objective."

Agnew was immediately challenged by some network and other TV spokesmen who charged him with an attempt to cow the television industry into more favorable treatment of the federal government.

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of CBS — which along with the other major networks carried the speech live — called it an "unprecedented attempt by the vice president of the United States to intimidate a news medium which depends for its existence upon government licenses."

Leonard H. Goldenson, president of ABC, said he felt that "the performance of ABC news has always been and will continue to be fair and objective." He expressed confidence in "the ultimate judgment of the American public."

A spokesman for the Mutual Radio network "heartily endorsed" the speech as a "call for fairness, balance, responsibility and accuracy in news presentation."

Networks and affiliated stations reported many telephone calls in response to Agnew's suggestion of public protest against TV news handling. The count of caller views ranged from 231 in favor of Agnew and two against him at WBAP-TV, the NBC affiliate in Ft. Worth, Tex., to 614 favorable and 554 against at NBC in New York.

Agnew told his Republican audience an example of the kind of TV news handling he had in mind was the networks' comment immediately after President

After reaching orbit, the astronauts reset three circuit breakers and reported the electrical system was working properly.

As the rocket streaked out over the Atlantic Ocean, its millions of parts meshed, pulsed and interacted flawlessly and all three stages fired with precision during 11½ minutes of flight to drill Apollo 12 into orbit more than 100 miles high at 17,400 miles an hour.

Shortly after the spacecraft, staged, communications with the spacecraft were suddenly shattered by high static.

Conrad reported the spacecraft may have been hit by lightning.

Only seconds later, however, Conrad said they had reset the affected instruments.

"We've had a couple of cardiac arrest down here, Pete," a ground controller quipped.

"We didn't have time up here," replied Conrad. "Okay. We're all organized again."

The Apollo 11 landing was comparatively a haphazard. There was no need to land precisely—just to land was good enough.

On Apollo 12, the astronauts will try a precise, pinpoint landing. If they successfully prove the techniques, future missions will be able to land in scientifically important but hazardous areas, such as inside a crater, beside a particular ridge or in a mountainous valley.

As a bonus, the pinpoint landing also will enable Conrad and Bean to walk to a robot spacecraft which has been on the moon for more than two years.

This spacecraft, the Surveyor 3, will be the first manmade object ever visited after long exposure to the cosmic and meteoric bombardments of space.

Conrad and Bean will cut off pieces which will be returned for analysis.

Thursday Blood Donations Exceed County's Quota

Pickaway County exceeded its quota for the first time in the history of the blood program here Thursday when 170 units of blood were collected from 181 prospective donors.

Jack Mader, blood program chairman, expresses appreciation to all the groups and individuals who made it a successful visit. Since this was an extra visit, not originally scheduled, and met with such gratifying response, the county now stands at 110 per cent of its quota and all residents are assured of receiving blood needs.

49 of the Thursday donors designated their donations for 8-year-old Patty Johnson of Edison Ave. who will undergo open-heart surgery Tuesday and will need B-negative, a rather rare type blood.

Two gallon donors at Thursday's visit were Martha Frazier and Robert Brehmer Jr. Howard J. Clark, Harvey Looney, Thelma Noecker and Dr. David Goldschmidt became one-gallon donors.

Herbert, Brown Happy At Taft's 1970 Target

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Treasurer John Herbert and Lt. Gov. John Brown are smiling more since Rep. Robert Taft Jr. lashed out at Gov. James A. Rhodes and State GOP Chairman John Andrews. They believe it's a sign Taft will run against Rhodes in next year's Republican primary for the U. S. Senate.

Herbert, Brown and Auditor Roger Cloud are waiting in the wings to see which way Taft goes. All want to run for the Republican nomination for governor.

Herbert's staff feels that if

Taft goes for the Senate, their main threat in a primary battle would come from Brown.

They will use Herbert's youth as a selling point. He's 38, Brown is 56 and Cloud is 60. Brown's backers believe Herbert's youth can work to his advantage.

"This state isn't ready for a 39-year-old governor," said one.

John Glenn's chances for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate are looking better as the party pros head for a split over two other possibilities, state-house observers believe.

Democratic leaders, they believe, will divide between John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati and Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland.

The ex-astronaut from New Concord can fill the breach. Although he may not be a favorite of the professionals, his popularity with the people hasn't dimmed.

With Gilligan eying the Senate, Robert Sweeney of Bay Village, the former Congressman-at-large, is now the most talked about possibility for governor.

A report is circulating around the statehouse that Gov. James

A. Rhodes tried to get Paul W. Brown back on the Supreme Court but Brown wouldn't take the offer.

Brown left the Supreme Court at Rhodes' beckoning to become attorney general when William Saxbe was elected in mid-term as U.S. Senator.

Rhodes, according to some Republican legislators, tried to get Brown to fill the seat vacated by the death of Justice Charles B. Zimmerman.

When Brown left the bench, he was considered Rhodes' choice for governor in 1970. But things didn't work out and Rhodes turned his attention elsewhere.

Brown is now likely to run for attorney general.

Sen. Phillip Hart, the Michigan Democrat, is a loyal booster of the University of Michigan.

During a news conference at Columbus, he was asked what he thought of his alma mater's chances against the Ohio State football team next week. "We would hope that we would beat the Buckeyes in football as we do in all academic fields," Hart replied.

There were no further questions along that line.

Methodists Reject Black Manifesto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United Methodist Church Council of Bishops rejected Thursday demands of the black manifesto for $500 million from U. S. churches in reparation for "injustices" inflicted on American Negroes.

In a message on reconciliation the bishops said "the violent Marxism of the black manifesto is utterly unacceptable," but urged the denomination's 11 million members to use their influence toward reconciling "our seriously divided society."

Fingers Crossed On Talks

The history of American negotiations with the communist world is one of the U.S. giving in the extra mile in an effort to achieve some substantial agreement. It was true with the treaties of Yalta and Potsdam, and again with the partial ban on nuclear testing.

Regardless of whether the arms control talks scheduled to begin between the U.S. and the Soviet Union in Helsinki on Nov. 17 turn out differently, the agreement to at least talk on a subject Secretary of State Rogers described as possibly "one of the most important negotiations this country has ever involved in" is something of a breach in the cold war.

In agreeing to the Helsinki site, the U.S. demonstrates its willingness to go virtually to the Soviet border to get the talks started. If the Soviets demonstrate equal sincerity, the first steps toward a new era of arms limitations may be at hand.

The Russians have good reason to want the proliferation of weapons throughout the world to come to a halt. Red China is its prime concern today, but it obviously also is concerned about the recalcitrance of some of its European satellites.

Nevertheless, the temptation may exist for the Soviets to use the negotiations to fortify their position among their wandering comrades.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you going to help make this Christmas season a merry one for the retailers? The consumer pollsters say you won't, not necessarily because you don't have the money but because you don't have the spending spirit.

That's what the pollsters say, but the retailers have other ideas and already they're beginning to charge up the atmosphere.

The challenge this year is clear, for the consumer buying mood has been deteriorating all year. In the third quarter the dip was especially sizable, as the impact of inflation and the fear of recession doubly depressed buyers.

As the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan put it: "A general malaise has developed among consumers."

A malaise is the very thing that marketing men hate. It is precisely the situation that advertising men fear the most because it means that their inspired productions have failed to motivate readers, viewers and listeners.

As any retailer will tell you, this American market place is not so much one of buying as it is of selling, not so much one of waiting for customers as it is of going out and getting them.

Goods, very fine goods, can remain on shelves all year long and never receive a nod from a buyer. But if the retailer promotes the product, perhaps even regardless of its merits, that product can be a real winner.

This requires that a great deal of electricity be sent through the market place. Tension must be created. It must be charged up. Expectancy, hope, desire must be produced. Potential customers must be activated.

But, what do the pollsters say about this creature, the consumer? That in his present frame of mind he is listless and unmotivated. He sees his income eroded by rising prices. And he has already been forced to cut into his savings.

Don't be surprised, therefore, to see Santa Claus make an ear-

Low Is Appointed Deputy Space Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, awaiting the Apollo 12 launching, announced Thursday he will name George M. Low, manager of the Apollo spacecraft program, to be the deputy administrator of the nation's space program.

Low, 43, from Friendswood, Tex., has been with the space program since 1949 and is now serving as manager of the Apollo program at the Manned Spacecraft Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston.

A native of Vienna, Austria, Low was deputy director of the Houston Center from 1964-1967. Since the Apollo 11 moon shot, he has been serving as a special assistant to Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is meant by a D. and C.? Under what circumstances is this operation performed on women? Does it always mean a very serious condition?

Mrs. D.R.K., Rhode Island Dear Mrs. K.: The letters D. and C. stand for the words dilatation and curettage. The pear-shaped uterus or womb has a narrow opening which is known as the cervix. After a gynecological examination of the female organs the physician may feel that he needs more information than that which can be obtained by clinical examination. There may be unexplained bleeding or other evidence of a disorder of the cervix or the womb and he may then suggest a D. and C.

The operation is almost painless and is performed under general anesthesia and is followed by very rapid recovery. The cervix is dilated and tissue on the inner lining of the uterus is removed with a curette. This tissue is then examined under the microscope for its valuable diagnostic information.

Frequently a D. and C. is performed as a matter of treatment in addition to a diagnostic examination. It is done very frequently and in no way suggests that serious illness is necessarily present.

Is there any danger in vaccinating an infant against smallpox and other diseases if she is born with severe eczema? Mrs. T.H., Michigan Dear Mrs. H.: There is no universal rule of safety about when an infant should be vaccinated. The decision, of course, depends on a physician's own evaluation of a child's skin and general condition. For example, rarely is a child vaccinated if he is suffering from an acute respiratory condition.

The causes of eczema are many, and it is generally believed that vaccination should not be done when the skin is in an irritated condition or when there is any unusual rash. A newborn child has immunity to a great many diseases and there usually is no great urgency for vaccination if there is such a skin condition.

Is addiction to barbiturates as dangerous as an addiction to heroin? Mrs. A.G., Missouri Dear Mrs. G.: I do not mean to be facetious when I ask you if it is more dangerous to light a cigarette with a stick of dynamite than it is to light it with a blowtorch? The obvious hazard is apparent. Any addiction of any drug is exceedingly dangerous. It may come as a shocking surprise to learn that the withdrawal from barbiturates or sleeping pills may be far more hazardous to life than is the withdrawal from heroin. This in no way minimizes the personal and family heartache that is associated with addiction to either of these drugs. The special pain of parents is to sadly learn, too late, that most addiction can be prevented.

Hairsprays and hair dyes can be exceedingly harmful to the outer ears and eyes.

You're Telling Me

After losing their first five league games, a Chicago store chain dropped the price of pictures of Chicago Bear players from 50 cents to three for 39 cents. Could this mean Windy City fans are very bearish about the Bears?

That question, declares the man at the next desk, deserves only a stock answer.

Weekend Will Tell

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

This weekend will tell a lot about the temper of the country. The claims of "New Mob" — the ultra-leftist New Mobilization group that set the plans in motion as far back as July for a November 14-15 descent on Washington — have hardly erred on the side of moderation. The Maoists and Trotskyists in the New Mob mob expect a real spurge of anti-Nixon venom on the streets of the capital, and it will be interesting to see if they get it.

But it will be more interesting to watch the reaction of the American people to the effort to stage a real defeatist carnival within shouting distance of the White House. The National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, run by an earnest and dedicated young man named Charles Wiley, has been having a most difficult time working up a program to give physical evidence of American distaste for the demonstrators. Nonetheless the revulsion against marches, sit-ins and the seizure of public buildings has gone deep. A recent lead article in TV Guide tells of the secret dismay of TV executives over the protests about one-sided electronic coverage of street protests that have been pouring into the news bureaus of the networks.

"Bias is on everybody's mind," says one network producer: "we've claimed we don't have it. And the viewers say 'Yes, you do.' I was stunned by the public reaction to Chicago. We all were... It is the key thing that opened my eyes to the cleavage between newsmen and the majority. We didn't know 56 per cent would have thought we were unfair."

So the "silent majority" has been writing and using the telephone. But this isn't an immediately visible phenomenon; it doesn't reach into homes where the TV medium is the message and it doesn't register in Hanoi or at the Paris Peace Talks. It only comes out after the image of America has been badly spattered with mud all over the world.

As a culmination of its Honor America Week, the National Committee for a Responsible Patriotism wants to see every motorist keep his headlights turned on this weekend.

A vast procession of cars with lights blazing through the daytime hours would have its physical impact. So let's go, motorists. Even if your car batteries suffer a bit it will be in the worst of causes.

The truth is that we can't go on with our non-stop orgy of faultfinding about America and last very long as a free country. Vice President Spiro Agnew, in his very able Harrisburg speech, laid it out on the line when he said that "people cannot live in a state of perpetual electric shock. Tired of a convulsive society, they settle for an authoritarian society... as an alternative to a life that is 'nasty, brutish and short.'"

Moreover, a diet of incessant detraction destroys personality. Any reputable psychiatrist will tell you that the way to turn a child into a psychopathic wreck is to keep emphasizing his shortcomings and his faults to the exclusion of ever saying anything good about him.

Nations, which are people in the aggregate, are no different from individuals.

No responsible college student should accept the "America is all wrong" bill of goods without first undertaking a comparative audit of systems. A recent Daniel Yankelovich & Co. survey shows that only eighteen per cent of U.S. college students think we have a better way of life than that in other countries. How many of the dissenting eighty-two per cent have ever visited a socialist country to make a valid comparison?

Even though the "silent majority" hasn't spoken, the demonstrations have been losing force. The "Resurrection City" encampment in Washington could not sustain the pitch of the first civil rights march. The Students for a Democratic Society haven't succeeded in rousing the liberals a second time against Mayor Daley's "pig society" by trying to make a shambles of Judge Hoffman's trial of the Yippie fanatics. The November 14-15 Washington Moratorium could provoke the same distaste as the SDS Chicago cavortings, especially if somebody is killed. The important thing is to get the news about demonstration failures through to Hanoi; that is the only way we shall have peace.

Arctic Cold, Snow Mix Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold numbed the Mid-continent today and threatened portions of the East with their first big snow of the season.

Temperatures fell near zero across the northern Rockies. Gusty winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour drove the cold deep into the Plains and Midwest where readings in the teens were common before daybreak.

Heavy-snow warnings were issued for western Pennsylvania and western New York. Accumulations of 7 to 9 inches or more were forecast.

Warnings to travelers of a mixture of rain and snow were in effect for adjacent areas of Ohio and New York as well as western North Carolina.

Snow squalls, in the Great Lakes region dumped 3 inches onto Canton and Akron, Ohio, late Thursday, although much of it melted in still mild temperatures. Four inches fell at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the cold was more pronounced.

Flurries swirled over the northern and central Plains and scattered sections of the Midwest.

Occasionally heavy snow hit parts of the northwestern Plains. Two to 4 inches blanketed the Black Hills in South Dakota and ranged up to 8 inches at Terry Peak.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean will star in two TV moon specials—an early morning walk-on and a late, late show lasting nearly five hours.

Apollo 12 Moon Walkers To Give 2 TV 'Specials'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Live and in color from the Ocean of Storms, astronauts

Arctic cold numbed the Mid-continent today and threatened portions of the East with their first big snow of the season.

Temperatures fell near zero across the northern Rockies. Gusty winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour drove the cold deep into the Plains and Midwest where readings in the teens were common before daybreak.

Heavy-snow warnings were issued for western Pennsylvania and western New York. Accumulations of 7 to 9 inches or more were forecast.

Warnings to travelers of a mixture of rain and snow were in effect for adjacent areas of Ohio and New York as well as western North Carolina.

Snow squalls, in the Great Lakes region dumped 3 inches onto Canton and Akron, Ohio, late Thursday, although much of it melted in still mild temperatures. Four inches fell at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the cold was more pronounced.

Flurries swirled over the northern and central Plains and scattered sections of the Midwest.

Occasionally heavy snow hit parts of the northwestern Plains. Two to 4 inches blanketed the Black Hills in South Dakota and ranged up to 8 inches at Terry Peak.

Report Cloud Plans To Run For Governor

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Plain Dealer said today that State Auditor Roger W. Cloud will announce Monday that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor next year.

This is an indication, the newspaper added, that U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., will probably oppose Gov. James A. Rhodes for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate instead of entering the governor's race.

Cloud, who has said that he would not run against Taft, a close friend, is calling a news conference Monday to announce his decision, the Plain Dealer said.

It added that he visited Taft in Washington this week and that Taft has scheduled a news conference for next Friday in Cincinnati.

Evolution Presented As Theory, Not Fact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Under a new guideline for public school science teaching in California, evolution will be presented as a theory, not fact, and mention also will be made of the Bible's version of creation.

The change was made Thursday by the state Board of Education to meet the objections of some board members that the purely scientific theory of evolution was being taught as documented fact with no reference to the belief of many of the world's creation by God.

Lorain Marine Dies In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Lance Cpl. Calvin Blanton Jr. of Lorain, Ohio, has died in Vietnam of causes not related to hostile action, the Defense Department reported Thursday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Blanton Sr., 510 East 25th St., Lorain.

Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation Text Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The text of President Nixon's Thanksgiving proclamation: On October 3, 1863, President Abraham Lincoln invited his fellow citizens to "set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of Thanksgiving . . ." This was the year of the battle of Gettysburg and of other major battles between Americans on American soil. To many, this call for a national day of Thanksgiving must have seemed strange, coming as it did at a time of war and bitterness.

Yet Lincoln knew that the act of thanksgiving should not be limited to times of peace and serenity. He knew that it is precisely at those times of hardship when men most need to recognize that the Source of all good constantly bestows His blessings on mankind.

Today, despite our material wealth and well-being, Americans face complex problems unknown before in our nation's history. In giving thanks today, we express gratitude for past bounty and we also confidently face the challenges confronting our own nation and the world because we know we can rely on a strength greater than our selves.

This year, let us especially seek to rekindle in our respective hearts and minds the spirit of our first settlers who valued freedom above all else, and who found much for which to be thankful when material comforts were meager. We are, indeed, a most fortunate people.

Now, therefore, I, Richard Nixon, President of the United States of America, in consonance with Section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States Code designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 27, 1969, as a day of national thanksgiving.

HER WINDOW

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the PTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, in hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis . . . the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.

Pickaway County District Public Library will celebrate National Children's Book Week, Nov. 17-22, with some unusual displays.

Collections of book marks, old-fashioned children's toys, and books of yesteryear will be presented around the library. Many posters of former Book Week promotion will be hung in the reference room. There will be a storybook house in the children's department, and children may cast their vote for their favorite story.

Mrs. Donald Flierl, of Ashville, will read a story hour special on November 22. The story hour will last approximately 45 minutes, after which children may browse among the new books on display.

Vote To Resubmit School Tax Levy

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The Lakewood Local School District Board of Education voted Thursday night to resubmit a proposed 8.9-mill tax levy to the voters on Jan. 6.

Voters in the district, which will shut down schools from Dec. 5 to Jan. 7 because of a lack of funds, rejected the levy in the Nov. 4 election.

Mrs. Nixon, Ohioan Write

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, in a personal letter to an Ohio school teacher, has paid tribute to the "never-ending dedication" of America's teachers to the young.

The White House made public Thursday, in conjunction with American Education Week, an exchange of letters between Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Kiuko Y. Sanders, a Japanese-born junior high school English teacher in Sandusky, Ohio.

Mrs. Sanders asked the President's wife to recognize in some way the many teachers "who strive, in an unassuming manner, to help the nation's youngsters in countless ways."

In a reply dated Nov. 9, Mrs. Nixon, a former teacher, said: "Our country's past achievements and our ultimate hope for continuing progress have and will always rest with the thousands of secondary and elementary school teachers, like you, who daily motivate, inspire and encourage students to reach their full potential in knowledge and understanding."

Gambling Trial Of Policemen Enters 3rd Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The gambling conspiracy trial of eight Columbus policemen and reputed racketeer Frank Baldasarro entered its third day today with only three jurors tentatively seated.

About 40 of the original venire of 100 prospective jurors were dismissed Thursday by attorneys and U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary.

The policemen are accused of conspiring to accept gambling payoffs from Baldasarro in what the federal government described as a police-protected numbers racket operation. All nine were named in a June 4 indictment that stemmed from a federal grand jury investigation.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On short notice, all three television networks provided live coverage of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's speech criticizing their news programs.

And the vice president accommodated the networks by finishing in time for the networks to pick up their regular entertainment series.

ABC and NBC resumed scheduled programs. On CBS, Roger Mudd summarized the vice president's criticism and read statements by the presidents of CBS and NBC defending their news departments.

There was no immediate postspeech analysis of the kind that Agnew criticized, but a roundtable discussion of the subject by the people who caught his fire could have been fascinating.

In one of those coincidences where television imitates life, "Ironside" on NBC had a story about an angry young hot-head arrested as the leader of an extremist, militant minority organization. When arraigned in court, the young man spat out a stream of insults to the judge and was jailed for contempt. A similar outbreak involving one of the Chicago Eight had been in the headlines days earlier, but the TV show was made weeks ago.

CHICAGO (AP) — Malorie T-iles, 23, Cincinnati, was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in jail and fined $500 for participating in violence-marked demonstrations last month by the Students for a Democratic Society.

Board Nixes Airport Plans

CINCINNATI (AP) — The board of directors of the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana regional planning commission Thursday rejected two regional airport proposals.

The board declined to act on a proposal by William J. Reardon, acting chairman of the Cincinnati Air Progress Committee to consider a regional airport at Wilmington.

The board also rejected as too complicated legally at this time to consider Greater Cincinnati Airport for a regional, three state operation.

The OKI saw a 1990 land use development plan which called for four new cities of 50,000 population each. Charles Ball, OKI director, said the satellite cities would be needed to serve the 41 per cent increase of population.

He said the cities should be located in Boone county, Ky., Dearborn county, Ind., and Clermont county near Milford and in Warren county near Mason, in Ohio.

Judge Proposes Stiff Penalties In Traffic Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stiffer penalties would help curb the state's mounting traffic toll, the Ohio Committee for Highway Safety was told Thursday.

Appeals Judge Otis R. Hess of Cincinnati proposed jail sentences and fines for major traffic violators. He said violators "are fearful of jail sentences and license revocations."

Municipal Judge Richard Cole of Springfield said courts should order violators to traffic schools to insure that they will not be repeaters.

About 100 persons from throughout Ohio attended the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Clerk of Education of the Logan Elm Local School District, Pickaway County, Ohio, at her office in the Logan Elm High School building, the address of which is Route 4, Circleville, Ohio 43103, until 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 10th day of December, 1969, at which time bids will be publicly opened and read. The purchase of bonds of the Board of the aggregate amount of $1,000,000, authorized by resolution passed November 10, 1968, shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Improvement Bonds."

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of January, 1970, shall be in the denomination of $5,000 each, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year, beginning June 1, 1970, at the rate of six per centum (6 per cent) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature $70,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1971 to 1985, inclusive, and $15,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1986 to 1991, inclusive. Said bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing a new 7th and 8th grade school building, adding to and improving the existing high school building, library facilities, furnishing and equipping buildings for school purposes and equipping, landscaping and otherwise improving school sites; are payable at the office of the legal depositary of the Board, presently The Second National Bank of Circleville, Circleville, Ohio, without deduction for its services as the Board's paying agent, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to be paid at maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded to such bidder as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or certified check, or certified check, payable to the Board, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of said bonds, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the Board unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense and will be printed on the bonds at the Board's expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery to entitle delivery to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should be act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Tax prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 7:30 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 10th day of December, 1969, to consider said bids and make an award. The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the state of Ohio to the purchaser or to a bank designated by the purchaser without charge. If delivered at a place outside the State of Ohio, the purchaser shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, in transaction, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the Board or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase, to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to her office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Find Out What's Bothering Hubby!

DEAR ABBY: Ron (not his real name) and I have been married for five days and we love each other very much. I am 19 and he is 21.

On the first night of our honeymoon we went sightseeing, and when we got back to the motel Ron locked himself in the bathroom, took a shower and came out in his pajamas and went right to sleep. I know he was tired that first night, but it's been like this ever since we've been married. I am not ugly and I am a very clean person. Please don't get the idea that all I have on my mind is sex, but I am getting very impatient.

Ron has had two years at Reed College in Oregon so I can't believe he's all that shy. What is he waiting for?

UNTOUCHED IN DENVER
DEAR ABBY: I don't know, but I think it's time you asked him. If things don't improve at your house, insist that Ron have a talk with a clergyman, or a doctor. Something is wrong in Denver.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man who is going to be married soon and a problem has come up. I have an aunt and uncle who were my favorite relatives when I was growing up. They treated me as if I were their own son. They were my Godparents when I was confirmed. Well, shortly after that something happened between my parents and this aunt and uncle and they haven't spoken since. I still don't know the complete story of what was behind the quarrel.

I would like to send this aunt and uncle an invitation to my wedding with a little note telling them that I'd like to include them during the happiest time of my life—my wedding. I suppose my parents will be hurt if I do, but I feel if my parents want to hold a grudge, it is their grudge, not mine.

I am not sure my aunt and uncle would even come to my wedding if they were invited, but I think they'll appreciate being asked. What do you think?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: I think your attitude shows great understanding and maturity. Children should not be expected to "inherit" and perpetuate the grudges of their parents.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a relative who has a couch which makes into a double bed, but she made it a point to keep this a secret?

This relative would never put up an overnight guest, claiming she had no sleeping accommodations.

I accidentally discovered this duo-purpose couch when I was over there one evening. Do you think I should say something to her about it? I hate to have her think she's getting away with something.

ON TO HER
DEAR ABBY: When this hits print you may not have to.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "NO GRANNY," asking for a snappy comeback for strangers who mistook her child for her grandchild prompts this letter.

I, too, had a child late in life, (39) and that was MY problem. I have no snappy comebacks, but I do have a suggestion:

When my little boy first started school, he brought a playmate home for lunch. The playmate took one look at me and said, "Why, you've got white hair just like my grandma's!" Then he turned to my son and asked, "Are you SURE she's

Backing For Israel Urged By Rhodes

TEL AVIV (AP)—Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes said Thursday the National Conference of Governors will be asked when it meets in December to issue a unanimous declaration of support of Israel's fight for survival in the Middle East.

Rhodes, chairman of a five-man delegation of U.S. governors on a fact-finding tour, said "Israel is doing all it can to prove that people can live together." He and the other governors pledged their support for Israel as the "only democracy" in the Middle East.

your MOTHER and not your GRANDMA?"

I took the hint. That Saturday I did something I've wanted to do for years. I became a honey blood. My husband loved it. My son was ecstatic and my friends asked me why I hadn't done it years ago. Sure, it's a lot of trouble, but it's worth it. And I'm not going to look like a grandma until I'm good and ready.

Big Job Awaits CHS Reserve Cheerleaders

By JOYCE ANKROM and VICKI RALSTON

The six 1969-70 Reserve "Holler Gals" are Mary Beth Black, Jill Bach, Beth Jones, Cindy Smith, Linda Stevens and Lisa Williams.

Lisa Williams resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams, and two brothers, Jeff and Greg, at 540 Ridgewood Drive.

She is active in GAA, EMS and Student Council. Her hobbies include swimming, cheering and talking. Although this is her first year as a cheerleader she commented, "It is a very time-consuming job which carries a lot of responsibilities. Being a cheerleader is great and well worth all the effort." Lisa feels school spirit is on an increase but would like to see more students participating in the activities sponsored to promote school spirit.

Mary Beth Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Black, resides at 675 Garden Parkway.

She enjoys collecting stuffed animals and watching people of interest in study hall. She is active in GAA and Student Council.

On the subject of school spirit she replied, "I think the spirit of the older students is lacking and can be improved by having projects to arouse their interest."

Linda Stevens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stevens. She is an active member of GAA and participates in the Volunteer program at Berger Hospital.

When asked her opinion of school spirit, Linda commented, "There is a lot of room for improvement! Things would really pep up if everyone participated." This is her second year as cheerleader.

Beth Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Jones, lives at 111 Seyfert Ave. Her hobbies are cheering, swimming, playing the guitar and having fun. Beth has been a cheerleader for two years. When asked what she thought of being a reserve cheerleader Beth said, "It is a lot of white shoe polish and fun." Beth thinks school spirit at CHS is getting better.

Jill Bach, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Bach, at 369 Northridge Road, has been a cheerleader for two years. Her hobbies include cheerleading, swimming and sewing. When asked how she liked being a reserve cheerleader Jill replied, "I think it is a lot of fun and I don't mind the work and time it takes." Jill thinks school spirit is improving with all the extra activities that have been going on. She only wishes that the activities could have started sooner.

Cindy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, resides at 214 Brink Drive. Cindy's hobbies include swimming and reading. Cindy has been a cheerleader for four years and thinks being a reserve cheerleader is lots of fun. When asked what she thought of school spirit, Cindy stated, "It is OK but we could use more of it."

Augustines New Sophomore, Senior At High School

MIKE AUGUSTINE

BILL AUGUSTINE

By SHERYL BINNS

Mike and Bill Augustine are two new faces in the CHS halls this year. They came to us from Highlands High School, Pittsburgh, Penn. They reside with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Augustine at 623 Mowrer Road.

Mike, a sophomore, was active in the Art Club at Highland. He lists fishing and pool as his favorite hobbies. In his opinion, "CHS kids are pretty nice and the food is better here than in Pittsburgh."

Bill, a senior this year, was active at Highlands in baseball, Varsity Club, and German Club. Bill's opinion of CHS is "It's friendly."

Shakespeare Takes On New Life At CHS

By JUDY BROCK

"A professor at Ohio University influenced my decision to become a teacher," stated Miss Margaret Bower. "Meg" Bower is the new senior English teacher this year at CHS. She attended Chippewa High School in Doylestown, which is located 20 miles south of Akron. During her high school days she was active in the Honor Society, treasurer of the Future Teachers of America, a member of the Pep Club and president of the Library Club.

MEG BOWER

After graduation from high school, she attended Ohio University. For two years during college she was a resident assistant, which is comparable to a house mother. Her job was to help keep order and to report any student problems. She was graduated last year with a Bachelor of Science.

Before entering college, Miss Bower was planning to become a librarian or do some type of library work. With the help and guidance of a professor, she decided that the life of a school teacher was for her.

"As I entered Circleville for the first time, the old houses and the iron fences caught my attention. Circleville really is a beautiful town."

How does she like the Circleville High School? "The school is just beautiful! The facilities here are wonderful. The students are well-mannered and very willing to help."

Her future plans are simple: "I take them year by year."

Miss Bower now resides at Gale Court.

Suffrage Still Teen Goal

By TY ANKROM

It seems too bad that a very small minority has to do a good thing for the majority. In last week's elections the proposed amendment to lower Ohio's voting age to nineteen was defeated by 1 per cent of the total vote. The radicals on the campuses of Ohio — although the number is ridiculously small — may take the blame. Because of their asinine actions, "The good majority" is still denied the right to vote.

The voters of Ohio were not quite ready to give nineteen-year-olds the suffrage — yet, that is. A safe bet is that the issue will be on the ballot again in the near future. When the question reappears before the voters, maybe the results will be reversed. Maybe, those who cast their ballot against the issue will take a closer look at the larger segment of today's youth. Then it will become evident that we teens deserve the privilege of voting.

Lawhorn Prepares For Tough Season

By MIKE VAUGHAN

1969 basketball season is now in full swing as the CHS roundballers prepare for a tough schedule.

The varsity coached by John Lawhorn, plays only two games before meeting the SCOL's top contenders for the crown in their third and fourth tilts. The squad hosts Westfall for their first game of the season Nov. 21 and on Nov. 22 travel to Chillicothe.

Assisting Lawhorn this year are Kelly Boyer, reserve team; Darrell Young, freshmen squad and Dennis Stuart, seventh and eighth grade. Kirk Brown and George Baughman are this year's varsity managers.

Coach Lawhorn boasts only one full time starter returning this year but he has three lettermen on the team. He hopes to offset the Tigers lack of height with speed and accuracy. Although the new cage coach has pretty well set up his squad he is waiting on the seven players he expects to "come out" after football season is over before he makes his final decision on who will make up this year's team.

The Tigers will have three scrimmages this year to ready them for the tough first part of the schedule. The varsity meets Lawhorn's old school, East Clinton, for their first Saturday. The Tigers will also travel to Greenview High School and will host Paint Valley in the next two weeks.

Lest we forget those "darlings of the vocal set" we add best wishes to the senior cheerleaders Joyce Ankrum, Debbie Lowe, Vicki Ralston, and Beth Smith.

Bill Gates is a sophomore linebacker on the Centerville Community College team which has been selected to play in the Yuma Bowl, Yuma, Ariz., on Nov. 29. Bill was a member of the '67 Tiger team and was an all-league linebacker. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates, 290 Lewis Road.

David Roese, senior captain of the Bowling Green football team, will undergo surgery for a knee injury. Dave is a graduate of Teays Valley where he starred on the football team. He was invited to try out at Bowling Green and his ability earned him a scholarship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Roese, Ashville.

Larry Pusey, son of Major and Mrs. Paul Pusey, Ft. Knox, Ky., finished fourth in the class AA Kentucky State Cross Country meet at Louisville, Ky., this fall. Larry's best time was 10:02 in the two mile event. He attended Logan Elm last year and was an outstanding miler on the track squad.

Our little gem of the week — Walter Johnson, defensive tackle of the Cleveland Browns, stands 6 feet 4 inches, weighs 275 pounds and runs 40 yards in 4.7 seconds.

Our "fearless forecast" of the week — Ohio State over Purdue.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Expect Kern-Phipps Battle To Tell All-American Tale

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Take it from Rex Kern. Purdue's Mike Phipps ranks with college football's best all-time quarterbacks.

Kern, an All-American quarterback candidate himself, and his top-ranked Ohio State mates have the job of sidetracking Phipps and Purdue Saturday.

A national television audience (ABC) will join another 2,000 in Ohio Stadium to view the Big Ten duel of No. 1 ranked Ohio State and No. 10 Purdue.

"Phipps has a good knowledge of the defense," Kern said. "That helps him pick out his second and third choice receivers so well."

Kern, a junior, continued talking about Phipps, a senior who is sixth in all-time career yardage with 5,462.

"He's got a real fine release, a strong arm, size and he gets back in the pocket real well. He's got to be one of the great."

Kern is healthy again after right shoulder tendinitis cost him a start against Wisconsin last week. He says his arm and shoulder feel much better. "I've been throwing all right in practice," he added.

Purdue, a 17-point underdog, has a history of upsetting No. 1 teams. The Boilermakers have stunned eight top-ranked squads since 1950, including three in the last four years.

The tables were turned here a year ago. Purdue was No. 1 when it lost 13-0 to the Buckeyes, who went on to a 16-0 season, the Big Ten and national crowns and Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes risk their 21-game over-all and 16-game Big Ten winning streaks against Purdue, which has severed opponents' 39, 28 and 13-game win strings since 1950.

Ohio State's incentives are Big Ten and national title repeats since the Buckeyes are ineligible for the Rose Bowl.

Purdue and Michigan, 4-1 behind Ohio State's 5-9 in the conference, are prime candidates for the Rose Bowl. Both face the Buckeyes in the next two weeks. Ohio State visits Michigan next week.

Comparative scores and a better defense are the main reasons the Buckeyes are expected to win their eighth this season and send the Boilermakers home with a 7-2 record.

Both have beaten Texas Christian, Illinois, Northwestern and Michigan State. Ohio State did it by a 192-27 margin. Purdue's victory margin was 177-90.

The quick, good-pursuing Buckeye defense has a clear edge, allowing 7.8 points to Purdue's 25.

Ohio State's attack, more versatile with fullback Jim Otis' plunges complementing Kern's running and passing, owns a 47-37 point average.

A 296 and 720 by Homer Lockwood of Cedar Falls, Iowa were tops in regular team scoring in the 1969 ABC.

Knicks Whip Chicago Bulls; Win 114-99

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks are so good that their fans have begun to look for horizons beyond simply winning. Winning has become routine for the Knicks. Now the trick is to keep the opposition below 100 points. That's what interests New York fans these days.

The Knicks performed that feat for the eighth time this season Thursday night, whipping Chicago 114-99 and tying a National Basketball Association record for the fastest start with their 16th victory in 17 games.

I expect for two hot spurts—18-3 in the second period and 13-3 in the third—which put the game under control, the fans' greatest excitement was reserved for the final moments. That's when the Knick scrubs—with buzzsaw Walt Frazier left over from the starters—pulled off a couple of steals to keep the Bulls from reaching the century mark.

That sent the fans home happy, a condition that is becoming normal for Knick followers.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia defeated Phoenix 124-110 and Seattle overcame Detroit 117-113.

The Knicks fell behind in the early going against the Bulls and trailed by as many as 10 points in the first quarter. But there was hardly a furrowed brow in Madison Square Garden.

Sure enough, New York came back. Frazier, who wears muttonchops that would've made Sir Walter Raleigh proud, began sniping the ball at half court and feeding Willis Reed and Dave Stallworth for baskets. "He momentu... shifted quickly and New York moved out to a five-point halftime lead.

Most of the heavy work in the comeback was done by Stallworth, Mike Riordan and Cazzie Russell, all in from the bench, along with starters Reed and Frazier.

Dave DeBusschere got in early foul trouble prompting Stallworth's entry into the game. "Stalls gave us quite a lift," said Red Holtzman, coach of the Knicks.

Reed, a bulwark under both the offensive and defensive backboards, led all scorers with 27 points and had 18 rebounds.

Kentucky Colonels Top Rockets, 109-104

Darrel Carrier worked overtime for the Kentucky Colonels Thursday night and made it count.

Carrier scored four points in the last half minute of overtime and clinched a 109-104 American Basketball Association victory over the Denver Rockets. As if that were not enough, Carrier also scored the four field goals which pulled the Colonels to a 95-95 deadlock with 2:34 left in the fourth quarter, and sent the game into the extra session.

In the only other ABA game, Indiana remained a game in front of the Colonels in the Eastern Division by beating Miami 115-109.

Purdue - OSU Game Highlights College Slate

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Boilermakers or Spoilermakers?

The Purdue football team likes to refer to itself as the latter, and although they are a 17-point underdog in Saturday's game with Ohio State, they think they can knock off the nation's No. 1 team in the college football game of the year.

The game at Columbus, Ohio, highlights a big November weekend in which many bowl bids likely will be decided.

Quarterback Mike Phipps, Purdue's master passer, is one reason and their record another. Phipps has written such predecessors as Dale Samuels, Len Dawson and Bob Griese right out of Purdue's record books.

Phipps and Rex Kern, the Buckeyes' quarterback who has rewritten some records himself, also are prime candidates for the Heisman Trophy which goes to the year's outstanding college performer. Kern sat out last week's 62-7 rout against Wisconsin to rest his bruised Wisconsin arm for Saturday's game which is being billed as college football's game of the year.

It will be televised nationally at 1:25 p.m. EST by ABC.

The Buckeyes want to win it for prestige since they're ineligible for a return trip to the Rose Bowl. They have a 21 game winning streak going and a chance to become the first team to win two successive national championships since Oklahoma did it in 1955-56.

Purdue's incentive is to represent the Big Ten Conference in the Rose Bowl. Purdue is tied with 14th ranked Michigan at 4-1 and will need to win to stay in the running, especially since Michigan plays Iowa, a less formidable opponent than Ohio State.

The shoe was on the other foot last year. Purdue was No. 1 and favored to win over Ohio State but it didn't turn out that way. The score was Ohio State 13, Purdue 0.

Saturday also could throw some light on the Cotton Bowl.

Cotton Bowl officials plan to fan out to five, possibly six games in their final courting of prospective visiting teams. The games include Maryland-No. 5 Penn State, 7-0; Iowa State-Missouri, No. 8, 7-1; Nebraska, No. 17, 6-2; Kansas State; Mississippi State - Louisiana State, No. 12, 7-1; and possibly Auburn, No. 11, 6-2 Georgia, No. 16, 5-2 1.

Mississippi, tied for 18th at 5-3 plays Tennessee, No. 3, 7-0, but that game isn't on the list.

"We could always have somebody in Knoxville Monday morning," a Cotton Bowl official explained. "We're not giving up on Tennessee."

The various bowls across the country announce acceptance of their invitations starting Monday.

There has been some indication Tennessee might prefer to go to the Orange Bowl, and then there's a persistent rumor Notre Dame might change its policy against going to bowls.

Holy Cross Jerseys Go To California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The Sacramento State College football team held a secret meeting and then confronted a nervous Coach Ray Clemons with its demand:

"We would like you to ask Holy Cross if we could wear their jerseys the last game."

So, 55 purple and silver Holy Cross College football jerseys are on their way from Worcester, Mass., 3,000 miles across the country to the California capital, for the Hornets' Nov. 21 night game against University of Puget Sound.

The Holy Cross Crusaders played two games, then had to cancel the rest of their season when the entire squad developed infectious hepatitis.

The Hornets dedicated their season, 6-2 so far, to the Crusaders and sent them a get well card signed by all the team members.

"We got a tremendous response from the people back there," said Phil Dymann, sports publicist for the 12,000-student Sacramento school, part of the 19-campus California State College system.

It was then the Hornets, who normally take the field in green and gold jerseys, decided they wanted to do more. Clemons won approval of the college's athletic board and the purple and silver shirts will go into action again.

In appreciation, Holy Cross officials have invited Clemons to address the annual college athletic awards banquet in Boston Dec. 11. Invited along is Mike Carter, a player who gave impetus to the idea of playing the season on behalf of Holy Cross.

Penn State and Missouri are prime prospects for the Cotton Bowl but the Sugar Bowl and the Orange Bowl want them, too. The Cotton Bowl's host team won't be decided until Dec. 6 when Texas, No. 2, 7-0, and Arkansas, No. 4, 7-0, meet for the Southwest Conference championship. Texas plays Texas Christian and Arkansas faces

Agnew . . .

dent Nixon's Vietnam speech Nov. 3.

The vice president said it was "obvious" that commentators had their minds made up in advance.

In his speech Agnew said, "Every American has a right to disagree with the President of the United States and to express publicly that disagreement."

But, he added, the people "have a right to make up their own minds and form their own opinions about a presidential address without having the President's words and thoughts characterized through the prejudices of hostile critics before they can even be digested."

After stating he was not suggesting government censorship of TV news, Agnew said, "I am asking whether a form of censorship already exists."

He said, "The news that 40 million Americans receive each night is determined by a handful of men responsible only to their corporate employers and filtered through a handful of men who admit to their own set of biases."

"A raised eyebrow, an inflection of voice, a caustic remark dropped in the middle of a broadcast can raise doubts in a million minds about the veracity of a public official or the wisdom of a government policy," Agnew said.

Agnew suggested that television "register their complaints on bias through mail to the networks and phone calls to local stations."

Thomas Powell of WDAU-TV in Scranton, Pa., president of The Associated Press Radio Television Association had this to say: "Mr. Agnew seems prepared to discard America's revered tradition of press freedom for a television system that would serve merely as a transmission belt for government statements and as a cheerleader for government officials."

James Day, president of National Educational Television, commented: "The sweeping remarks of the vice president both misrepresent and misinterpret the news function of television network broadcasting."

Thomas P. F. Hoving, chairman of the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting said: "Agnew's disgraceful attack tonight against network television news officially leads us as a nation into an ugly era of the most fearsome suppression and intimidation."

Vanik Considers Governor's Race

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, says he is considering seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio but he has "no interest" in entering the U.S. Senate race.

The eight-term congressman said in Washington Thursday that he was convinced he could win the nomination in a three-way race with Robert E. Sweeney, who has announced his candidacy, and John J. Gilligan, who is expected to announce.

Vanik said he plans to attend a meeting of Ohio Democratic officials in Columbus next month to which all potential candidates have been invited. He explained the purpose of the meeting is to avoid any "blood-letting" in a primary.

Mrs. Kathryn Nungester, 43, of 367 Walnut St., injured the calf of her left leg.

North Viets

ing in the border region is their responsibility and that no American infantrymen will be committed. The purpose is to hold down U.S. casualties and transfer more of the fighting to the government's forces, the Nixon Administration's policy of Vietnamizing the war.

In an effort to ease the enemy pressure in the region, 10 American B52 bombers dumped 300 tons of bombs during the night on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, base camps, bunkers and staging areas northeast of Duc Lap.

To the southwest along the border, American helicopters baited North Vietnamese gunners, flushed out several squads, then called in bombers and artillery that killed at least 22 of the enemy, military sources reported.

The only American casualty was a man wounded aboard one of the three helicopters that drew the North Vietnamese fire as they conducted "reconnaissance by decoy" Thursday some 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said all three helicopters returned to their bases safely.

'March Against Death' Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—The muffled drums stuttered their funeral cadence, the bobbing candles flickered in the chill breeze, and the solemn "March Against Death" filed before the White House.

"My son, Timothy Clark," a middle-aged man with tears on his cheeks called out as he strode past the gate of the executive mansion, his slain son's name flapping against his coat.

The night grew colder Thursday and it rained but still it came, the long, procession—widely gapped by its own obedience to traffic lights—bearing candles and the names of Vietnam war dead, Vietnamese villages ruined.

Donald G. Clark, Victor Tomczyk, Jerry S. Baker, My Duc.

The first day of the second moratorium of the peace movement seeking an immediate end to the Vietnam War ended quietly. The second day, prelude to what could be the biggest peace demonstration in the nation's annals, began the same way as the march continued through the night.

The march, which began at dark in a tangle of commuter traffic, was all that was happening. There were no incidents. The marchers said they would continue until dawn Saturday, until the name of every G.I. slain in the long war had been called to the President's house, then dropped in coffins at the foot of the Capitol grounds.

William P. Young, Hiep Hoa, Cleophis Harrison.

There was no response—nor had one been expected—from the White House, where Richard Nixon spent the night before flying today to Cape Kennedy, Fla., to witness the beginning of man's second trip to the moon.

While the Army remained on alert for trouble in Saturday's mass demonstration—preparing to quarter troops in the fortress-like Department of Justice for the first time since World War II—the "March Against Death" encountered a minimum of visible security precautions.

Washington police guarded intersections along the 4.2 mile route to direct traffic. At the White House, a sidewalk barricade was opened to allow the single file of marchers, headed by their seven drummers, along the wide sidewalk.

A few White House police stood inside the gates, sometimes returning smiles for the hellos tossed out by the marchers. More, however, were available behind the blinding floodlight installed before the North Portico of the mansion. No one could look at the house for more than a few seconds without turning away from the light.

The order had gone out to Washington's 3,000 policemen from Chief Jerry V. Wilson:

"Members of the force, in handling the many unusual circumstances that arise, shall be patient, discreet, and solicitous of the citizens of our own city, as well as the multitude of visitors here during the demonstration . . .

"Arrests for minor infractions shall be held to an absolute minimum . . ."

The buses kept rolling in to the assembly area at the Virginia end of Memorial Bridge, at the foot of the slope of Arlington National Cemetery. The flickering flame of John F. Kennedy's grave was visible as the marchers disembarked, waited, lined up, waited some more, then set out across the bridge.

Many carried the names of dead strangers. But many, too, carried the names of their sons, husbands, brothers—and, for some youngsters, fathers.

Maitland delivered a note in Tripoli that said: "One reason for our maintaining troops in Libya on a permanent basis was the obligation under the treaty to come to Libya's defense. Clearly this no longer applies."

Libya's new government delivered notes to the British and American embassies in Tripoli late last month calling for negotiations to close the small British bases at El Adem and Tobruk and the U.S. Air Force's big Wheelus base outside Tripoli. No American response has been announced.

On the Arab-Israeli war front, a spokesman in Tel Aviv said an Israeli army patrol killed an Arab guerrilla Thursday night in a clash in the southern part of the Golan Heights. There were no Israeli casualties, the spokesman said.
